WILSON CONSENTS TO POSTPONE HIS ADDRESS.

Message to be Delivered to Congress Wednesday Noon.

Mexican Authorities Given More Time to Consider the Proposals.

WASHINGTON, August 26. Eleventh hour developments in the Mexican situation today postponed delivery of President Wilson's special message to Congress until Wednesday, and indicated that the Huerta government, after all, might withdraw or modify its rejection of the proposals of the United States.

At the request of Senor Gamboa, Mexican minister of foreign affairs, which was based upon supplementary suggestions by John Lind, advisor to the American embassy in Mexico City, President Wilson consented to postpone his address to Congress until 1 o'clock Wednesday. It was officially stated in that connection that in no case would the United States withdraw from the basic principles of its position, paramount among which is a consistent refusal to recognize Huerta.

Official announcement was made of the original proposals by the United States presented to Huerta by Mr. Lind. They were:

1—Cessation of hostilities and a definite armistice.

2—An early and free election.

3—Huerta to bind himself not to be a candidate.

4—Agreement by all parties to abide by the results of the election.

Upon these proposals the Huerta government at the last moment asked further time for consideration and, upon certain supplementary suggestions by Mr. Lind, the nature of which is not being divulged here, the request for a postponement was made.

White House officials positively stated that Mr. Lind had not been recalled from Mexico City and added that if he had left for Vera Cruz it would be for only a short visit. He is expected to return to Mexico City to continue the negotiations. Preparations at the Capitol, hurriedly made for a joint session of the House and Senate, were called off.

President Wilson's message, a document of about 4,000 words, was locked up in the White House vaults awaiting the next developments. It is generally understood that the message is very kind in tone towards Mexico, outlines the American government's position, expresses generous friendship for the Mexican people, and defines the reasons for insisting upon elections and the elimination of Huerta.

The expression of American policy is a long and unusual effort to persuade the de facto authorities in Mexico City to suspend hostilities, convoke a constitutional election and secure freedom of choice by eliminating the present ruler, Victoriano Huerta.

In view of the rejection of those suggestions the United States has not felt compelled to emphasize its ideas by arms but, having obtained the moral support of the civilized world, the American government has decided to pursue a policy of absolute non-interference. From the first it has realized that only two alternatives of policy were before it—friendly mediation or armed intervention. The one has failed and the other, in the opinion of administration officials, is not called for by present emergency. The United States, therefore, will remain aloof, hoping moral suasion eventually will prevail. Arms will be denied all warring factions. Americans will be assisted to leave the trouble zones and the United States will patiently await the establishment of a secure, stable and constitutional government before extending recognition.

President Wilson's message, a communication which formally denies recognition to the Huerta government, though protesting sincere friendship for the great mass of Mexican people, without voice in their government, is essentially a review of the mission of John Lind and his negotiations with the Huerta government.

The message cites as an almost parallel precedent for the action of the administration today the difficulties between President Hayes in 1877 and Porfirio Diaz, who, after overthrowing President Lerdo, sought recognition from the United States. Though foreign governments recognized Diaz, the United States waited a year, not only until an election was held but until it was satisfied that the government set up could guarantee international contracts. The reference to this precedent led to the belief that while it has hitherto been supposed that immediately following an election by Huerta recognition would be extended, the likelihood was that the United States would not extend the hand of friendship to the existing government or its successor in Mexico for some time.

President Hayes in 1877 saw fit to order General Ord to the border with power to cross into Mexico with American troops to suppress marauding bands who were plundering the property of Americans and terrorizing across the Rio Grande. On that occasion the federal government had been lax in giving border residents protection, but as soon as the troops were ordered south the Diaz government indignantly announced that the entrance of any American soldiers into Mexico would be regarded as an invasion and act of war.

Immediately on assembling the House adopted the necessary resolution for a joint session at 1 o'clock tomorrow to hear President Wilson's address. The resolution was passed without debate as soon as it came into the Senate.

NOTHING TO OFFER HUERTA.

The Chief Difficulty of Mission of Lind to Mexico.

LONDON, August 26. "The difficulty of the mission of John Lind to Mexico was that from the beginning the American government had nothing to offer to President Huerta if he acceded to the U. S. request," comments the Westminster Gazette in an article

A FLYING CALL.

Aviators Hanley and Curtis Made a Brief Visit to Captain Willoughby.

Start from Providence After Breakfast and Expected to be Back Home by 9:30.

Young Hanley of Providence, accompanied by his instructor, Mr. Morris of the Curtis Aero Company, made a morning call on Captain Willoughby at his camp at King Park today. The visitors landed in the water just off the camp and came ashore about 8 o'clock, having started out for a little fly after breakfast. They spent about an hour here, then started back up the bay, and should have been at their own camp inside of half an hour, the distance between the two cities being a short ride in one of these machines. They came in a recent type of Curtis flying boat, propelled by a 100-horsepower engine, and were flying when about these waters at an altitude from 50 to 100 feet, a good flying height. They had a fair wind for the return and should have made a speed of 80 miles an hour, and according to Captain Willoughby, at a greater safety than one would make a trip to Providence in an automobile at a 20-mile rate.

The two visitors were here a week or two ago, but did not land then. The landing and making of the call furnishes food for reflection, calling attention to progressive aviation which permits a man to rise at a reasonable hour, have his breakfast, make a 20-mile trip and after more time than is required to make a polite call return and be at his office at the usual time. From Providence to Newport and back between 7 and 9:30, and an hour of this time spent in making a call, is calculated to make those who have been in the habit of making the trip, first in sailing craft, then in steamboats, and finally by train or electric cars, give thought to the flying machine, which is becoming so common that it is now taken almost as a matter of course.

Captain Willoughby's Pelican III is under repairs, as a result of the tryout last Thursday. The engine is disassembled and a new cam shaft is being awaited, the original having been damaged. Some adjustments are also being made on the machine and it will be some days before it will be out again.

Young William Thaw, who has been using a water-air craft similar to that of Mr. Hanley at Watch Hill, has had his machine shipped here and is expected to sport about Newport in the near future. It is possible that he too will establish a camp at King Park, where the conditions are favorable.

HAWKER RESUMES FLIGHT.

Ascends at Beadnell and Proceeds Northward in Flight.

BEADNELL, England, August 26.—Harry G. Hawker today resumed his attempt to fly round the coasts of England and Scotland in his hydroaeroplane for a prize of $25,000. He is the only contestant. Hawker started yesterday from Southampton on his 1,000-mile flight and succeeded the first day in covering 495 miles in 5.8 minutes. The time limit for the entire distance is 72 hours. He made descents on the water at the control stations at Ramsgate, Yarmouth and Scarborough and, while on the fourth stage of his journey, which would take him from Scarborough to Aberdeen, he was compelled to descend at Seaham Harbor, owing to motor troubles. This he remedied and then came on to Beadnell. He ascended at 8:05 this morning and proceeded on his way to the north in fine weather.

HEADED TOWARD CROMARTY.

Hawker Stops at Aberdeen, Completing 639 Miles of His Trip.

ABERDEEN, Scotland, August 26. Hawker arrived at 11 o'clock, completing 639 miles of his flight. After a delay of 55 minutes he made another ascent and flew toward Cromarty, the next control station on the Scottish coast, traveling at great speed.

MORE THAN A MILE A MINUTE.

Hawker Makes Great Time on Fifth Stage of Flight.

CROMARTY, Scotland, August 26. Hawker reached here at 2:05 having flown another 134 miles of his journey in 130 minutes, thus doing more than a mile a minute on the fifth stage. His next flight will be around the northern end of Scotland to Oban, on the west coast.

NEW HAVEN BREAKS BADLY.

Weakness of Stock Due to Estimates of Earnings for Fiscal Year.

NEW YORK, August 26.—Stock of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, which has experienced a decline within the last year that has made history in Wall street, broke badly again today. It fell over 4 points to 92½, once more establishing a low record price. Subsequently it rallied to 94½. The stock in former years sold as high as 259 and has pronounced weakness within recent months foreshadowed the reduction, which was made in the annual dividend rate from 9 to 6 per cent. Weakness of the stock today was due to estimates of the earnings for the last fiscal year, based on such figures as have appeared. These figures indicated that the New Haven failed to earn the dividends of 7½ per cent. paid in the last fiscal year, having operated at a deficit of more than $1,000,000.

OFF ROCKLAND COURSE.

Torpedo Boat Destroyer Cummins Begins Acceptance Trials.

ROCKLAND, Maine, August 26. Torpedo boat destroyer Cummins, built at Bath, today began a series of official acceptance trials that will continue through four days. The first was the standardization trial, in which the new craft was required by contract to attain a speed of 29 knots. She was to be given 26 runs at varying speeds over the mile course, finishing at sundown tonight.

THAW SHUT OFF FROM ALL INTERVIEWERS.

Order of Prisoner's Lawyers Serves Two Purposes.

Fugitive Mailing and Telegraphing Statements to Papers.

SHERBROOKE, Quebec, August 26.—Harry K. Thaw's many lawyers, fearful lest he hurt his case by his self-planned press campaign, shut him off from all interviewers today. They obtained from the sheriff an order to the governor of Sherbrooke jail to the effect that no one should see Thaw, except in the presence of some one of his counsel.

The order serves two purposes. First it prevents Thaw from giving out any more rambling interviews, except surreptitiously, by messengers; Second, it would circumvent any secret attempt to obtain a statement in which he might inadvertently reveal something about the plot resulting in his release from Matteawan.

A cold rain kept the army of lawyers, newspapermen and others, brought here by the Thaw case, within doors today, where foe and friend swapped theories and predictions and mutually agreed that even now, 10 days after Thaw's break for liberty, legal moves for and against his return were in a state of chaos.

The possibility of a long, drawn out fight over the constitutionality of Canada's drastic immigration act, under which it is proposed to deport Harry K. Thaw, subsequent to his arraignment in the superior court tomorrow, was the favorite theme today of both factions gathered at Sherbrooke, since Thaw's arrest near here after his escape from Matteawan. Going over the situation informally, William T. Jerome and District Attorney Conger of Dutchess county, N. Y., sat late by a roaring wood fire in the Magog house, the storm centre since Thaw's arrival of nearly all conferences about him.

"I can't express an opinion on every theoretical defense suggested by Thaw's lawyers," said Jerome. "We hope to get him back to Matteawan, where he belongs, but it does look like we were all in for a siege."

Chief counsel for the New York forces, Samuel Jacobs, is in Montreal.

Thaw continued to show little interest in anything except his publicity claim. He is sending and telegraphing statements to papers in Vermont, where, notwithstanding all theories of court delay here, he apparently expects to be deported. He also insisted again today that in view of Jerome's presence here he wanted his lawyers to re-issue a statement quoting Jerome as saying in New York in 1905 that Thaw was sane.

T. B. Williams of the Dominion immigration department was quoted today as saying that he placed no faith in Thaw's chances of testing the immigration act in the courts.

"We still believe Harry Thaw will be deported," he said, "and we don't put much faith in this story that he can make an international affair of his case. Our duty is simple. We will give Thaw a hearing. As soon as he is turned down by the minister of the interior, as I have every reason to believe he will be, then we will take him to Vermont and turn him loose. That will settle our end of the affair. What happens in Vermont is none of our affairs."

"Gentleman Roger" Thompson sent a message last night to his widowed mother in New York, telling her not to worry. His case on a charge of being a lunatic to cross the border, will come up before a police judge here Friday. Thompson has not receded from his determination not to "squeal" and tell all about his dealing Thaw in the car. His threat, last week, to tell all resulted in the immediate employment of counsel for him by the Thaw family and in other ways Thompson has been made so comfortable for the time being that he prefers to say nothing.

Mr. Jerome today evidenced his desire not to say much about the Thaw case by emphasizing his sympathy for Thaw and everything pertaining to him.

STARTS FROM DOVER.

Henry F. Sullivan to Attempt to Swim English Channel.

DOVER, England, August 26. Henry F. Sullivan, long distance swimmer of Lowell, Mass., started this morning on his first attempt to swim the English channel, a feat hitherto accomplished only by Captain Matthew Webb in 1875 and by William T. Burgess, an Englishman or Irishman, but naturalized French citizen, September 8, 1911. Sullivan started from a motorboat near the South Foreland at 5:15. He was accompanied when he entered the water by his father, Joe Conlon, his trainer, Weidmann, a local swimmer, and Pearson, who piloted Burgess during his swim.

The weather was fair and the temperature of the water was 61 degrees. Sullivan expected to be stuck after 24 hours but Burgess, who was expected would take him clear of the mark, decided it would satisfy after which he would have the advantage of the tide.

Henry F. Sullivan was swimming strongly at noon at a point [illegible] the channel. He was [illegible] good shape after taking [illegible] at 9:45 and [illegible] A heavy haze was [illegible] the water, but a high wind developed, creating a choppy sea. Some of the mail steamers crossing the channel sighted the swimmer.

WILL ATTEMPT THE CHANNEL.

Wolfe, Well Known English Swimmer Starts from Cape Grisnez.

CAPE GRISNEZ, France, August 26. Jabez Wolffe, a well known English amateur long distance swimmer, left the French coast near this headland, the nearest point to the English coast, at 5 o'clock this morning, in attempt to swim the English channel.

PORTSMOUTH.

Death of Alfred Clark Chase—Funeral of Thomas Varden—A Birthday Party.

(Regular correspondence of The News.)

Mr. Alfred Clark Chase died last night at the home on Ferry Neck of his daughter, Mrs. H. Chester Holly, with whom he resided. He was born in 1833, the grandson of Holder Chase, great-grandson of Nathan Chase, and a descendant of the original Chases who came to America. He was one of nine children of Clark Chase and the last to die. They were Samson, who died 64 years ago; Borden, Amy Ann, wife of Humphrey Almy; Sarah, wife of Stephen Devoll of Fall River; Philip B., for many years town clerk of Portsmouth; Charles, Nathaniel and Isaac A. Fowler of Brooklyn. He married Ruth Ann Anthony, daughter of William Anthony and they had two children, Edmund and Maud A. (Mrs. Holly). He was a carpenter and worked at his trade almost all his life.

The funeral of Thomas Varden, aged 83, who died Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Brayton, where he lived, after an illness of only a few days, took place Monday afternoon from the services being conducted by Rev. Lydia Wadsworth of the Methodist Episcopal Church. There were several floral pieces. The pallbearers were Jean L. Borden, Benjamin Tallman, Perry G. Randall and Christopher M. Lester and the interment was in the Dennis family lot in the Portsmouth cemetery.

His only known relative is a sister living in Dartmouth. He was Welsh by birth, and came to this country when he was comparatively a young man, coming to Portsmouth when 40 years of age. For some years he was employed by Mr. Albert W. Lawrence, Mr. Benjamin G. Sherman and Mr. George N. Dennis, who died about 16 years ago. Since the latter's death he has acted at the greater part of the time as general utility man on the Sanford farm, for a time he lived in Portsmouth village, a small place and working at the trade of shoemaking. He later sold it, coming back to Portsmouth to make his home with Mr. Dennis's daughter, Mrs. Brayton. He had been an industrious worker, prudent and economical and for a man of his small earnings had saved a small competence.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Almy entertained Sunday in honor of Mrs. Almy's sixty-ninth birthday and the twenty-fourth of her daughter, Gertrude, Mrs. Joseph D. Chase, of Middletown, a number of her children with their families and a few guests. Mr. and Mrs. Almy presided at the table where a bountiful feast was served. The menu included quahaug chowder and fried oysters; roast chicken, dressing, onions, mashed and sweet potatoes, sweet corn, cucumbers, tomatoes, toasted lemon pop, apple pie, rice pudding, with sauce and [illegible]

The company, numbering 20, were Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Almy, Mrs. William L. Almy of Tiverton, and her daughters, Annie and Violet; Mr. and Mrs. George G. Hart and their son, Allen; Mr. and Mrs. Gideon W. Almy and their sons, Warren and Gideon; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph D. Chase and their daughter, Eloise, of Middletown, Mrs. Almy's stepmother, Mrs. Wilson; Mrs. Clara E. Dennis and Miss Ruth Tomlinson of Tiverton. Mr. Chase and children, Hope and Lyle, and wife were in Wethersfield, Conn., and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Almy of Tiverton could not be present.

Mr. F. H. Field, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Field, formerly of this town but now of Tacoma, Wash., who left the latter city last May to take charge of the Saskatchewan business of the Ocean Accident & Guarantee Corporation, is about to be presented with a $7,500 residence by the company. He is stationed at Regina and it is in that city that his new home will be built. He has the entire province of Saskatchewan to cover. Mr. Field spent his boyhood in Portsmouth. Later working in Boston six years before going to Tacoma, he first entered the position of claim agent for the Tacoma Light & Power Company four years, and was then two years in a similar capacity with the Aetna Life Insurance Company, before moving to Canada.

The addition to the Fair theatre building has been outwardly completed and it is expected that the interior will be ready for the installation of the scenery provided by Father Rooney for the tragedy in three acts, "Maid of Arc," which is being prepared for presentation. Tuesday night has been chosen and that of Miss Lillian Mercer of Newport.

Rev. John Wadsworth of the Methodist Episcopal Church took for his text Sunday morning Matt. Few XXVII: 54 and in the evening, Acts XXIX-[illegible]

Rev. Albert Lemley, pastor of the Christian Church, preached Sunday morning from John XIII. At the conclusion of the sermon he administered the rite of baptism and received into the church two candidates and added to the fellowship. As the people of the Christian denomination believe in the ancient order of the New Testament, with a Bible found a copy of the same, Mrs. Warren R. Sherman and Mrs. Hughes Grinnell gave a duet. The pastor will go on his vacation next week, to be gone three Sundays. There will be preaching services as usual on Sundays.

Mrs. A. J. Marks of Norwich, Conn., is visiting for a week of Mrs. James Renshaw.

Mr. and Mrs. James Sampson and their daughter, Miss Lucy, Miss Maria Sampson of Fall River and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gurney of New Bedford are spending a fortnight at the Hunt House.

Rev. Alfred B. Howard did not arrive last week as was expected, but his appointment to officiate in the church at Wickford was fulfilled. Miss Annie Sharpe of Portland is visiting for a week of Miss Elsie Lawton of Portsmouth, R. I.

Mr. Andrew Forbes of New Bedford is at Hill's position, guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Cory.

Miss Marjorie Collamore of Fall River is spending a week with Miss E. Lincoln.

Mrs. Maurice Corcoran and Miss Anna Corcoran of Boston are here for a month.

Miss Julia Weeks Tallman is visiting her sister, Mrs. Edward P. Brown, Golden street.

Mr. Kirk Bailey is entertaining his sister-in-law, Mrs. Howard Bailey, of Providence, Lally, and daughter of New Bedford.

Rev. Horace Porter of East Freetown officiated at his cousin, Mrs. Frank R. Cole, on Middle road.

Miss Gertrude Tallman of Fall River is visiting Mr. and Mrs. William F. Almy, is spending a week of her vacation with her cousin, Miss Dorothea Almy, near Keene, N. H.

Fall River Iron Works Plant Resumes Operations.

FALL RIVER, Mass., August 25.—The Fall River iron works plant, manufacturing cotton cloth, resumed operations today after a shut down which was inaugurated May 12 last. The plant employs between 5,000 and 6,000 hands and, while not all the departments are running in full, there was a big representation of help on hand. It is expected that it will be several weeks before the departments are running to capacity. A number of local mills which have been running with iron works help were shorthanded this morning, as the result of the help returning to the big Borden plant.

REPORTED AS DELIBERATE.

Murder of Rev. Dr. Holbrook at Sousbehir to be Investigated.

CONSTANTINOPLE, August 25.—The United States embassy here has dispatched Lewis Heck, acting vice consul and interpreter at the United States consulate general, in the Turkish capital, to inquire into the conditions attending the murder of Rev. Dr. Charles H. Holbrook, an American missionary. Dr. Holbrook, who came from Lynn, Mass., was killed at Sousbehir, Asiatic Turkey, about a week ago. It is declared that certain facts have come into possession of the Turkish House see, showing that the murder was a deliberate one.

According to the official version of the affair Dr. Holbrook was sleeping in the garden surrounding the house of an Armenian who had been paying attention to some Turkish women. Two Turks belonging to the neighborhood, determined to punish the Armenian, forced their way into the garden and shot the sleeping Dr. Holbrook, it was said, in mistake for the owner of the house. The murderers have been arrested and are awaiting trial.

ECZEMA SPREAD TO FACE AND NECK
And Ears. Itched and Burned So Scratching Made Sores. Great Disfigurement and Pain. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.
R. F. D. No. 2, Enosburg Falls, Vt.—"My eczema began by a pimple on my chin. It then spread to my face and neck and ears. The pimples were small and they festered. The eczema itched and burned so I scratched and it made raw sores. On account of the irritation I could not sleep much. It caused great disfigurement and it caused pain.

"I underwent two treatments but they failed to help me so I took two bottles of blood purifier but got no help. The trouble had lasted about two months. I then thought I would try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After using the Cuticura Soap and Ointment a week my eczema began to heal. I washed the eczema with the Cuticura Soap and then put on the Cuticura Ointment. One cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment cured me and at the end of five weeks I did not have a scar." (Signed) Miss Mabel Gilman, May 2, 1913.
It costs nothing to learn how pure, sweet, effective and satisfying Cuticura Soap and Ointment are in the treatment of poor complexions, red, rough hands, itching scalps, dandruff, dry, thin and falling hair, because you need not buy them until you try them. Cuticura Soap 25c. and Cuticura Ointment 50c. are sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."
Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

BEST MATCH IN SERIES.

Simmons Wins From B. H. Sherman in Mianetuck Semi-Finals.

Monday afternoon the best match of the tournament in men's singles at the Mianetuck courts was played, when Henry G. Simmons won his way into the final round by defeating B. Rowland Sherman, 6-0, 1-6, 7-5, 3-6, 6-4. The match with the exception of the first and last sets was well contested. Simmons won through his greater endurance. His younger opponent hoped to tire him out, but on the other hand took no precaution to save his own strength, and the result was that he weakened before Simmons did. Sherman started off poorly and Simmons had little difficulty in running out the first set. In the next Sherman struck his usual good form and for three sets had a little the better of the argument. In the last he went to pieces and Simmons had an easy time winning the match.

The best matches of the series are coming to arouse much interest, as they are played at a time when everybody is attracted to the national tournament. Probably the final between Simmons and Hofmann will have a larger following.

GOES TO RELATIVES.

Net Estate of John Inness Kane, Descendant of Astor, Reaches $372,580.

John Inness Kane, a great-great-grandson of John Jacob Astor, founder of the Astor family in this country, left a net estate of $372,580, according to a transfer tax report filed in New York. Mr. Kane died February 1 of last year. His widow, Mrs. Annie C. Kane, receives $186,918; Miss Helen Dorothea Kane, niece, $39,366; Peter Augustus Jay, nephew, $10,000; Robert Morris Phelps, nephew, $5,000; a brother and sisters receive $28,732 each. They are Delancey Astor Kane, Mrs. Emily A. K. Jay, Misses Sybil Langdon and Sibyl Kent Kane, Nancy Jepson O'Connor, a friend, receives $10,000, and Mrs. Carolyn Kane Phelps, a niece, $14,366.

The leasehold from Columbia University of the property at Fifth avenue and Forty-ninth street, New York, northwest corner, with right to renew and privilege of renewal, is appraised at $155,000; seven forty-fourths in No. 518 Broadway is worth $6,000; a similar interest in No. 522 Broadway, $16,500; the same in No. 520 Broadway, $13,500. Stocks and bonds are worth $51,026, and there is a deposit, 101,244.

CORN ROAST AND "WATERMELON EAT."

The success of the recent corn roast at Lawton's Valley under the supervision of the local Young Men's Christian Association, has prompted those who attended to urge Assistant Secretary Stockwell to arrange for another good time. Mr. Stockwell has arranged these appeals by arranging for next Thursday evening a corn roast and "watermelon eat" combined. There is every reason to suppose the affair will be as successful as previous ones. The destination will be Lawton's Valley, as before.

PERSONALS.

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt will attend the birthday celebration of the Progressive party, to be held in Chicago August 30.

Professor V. E. Sweeting of Canada is the champion individual of the United States and the national individual champion by a score of 238 out of a possible 250. Lieutenant L. W. Walter of the marine corps was second with 236, Major Mundel of Washington third with 234, Sergeant Garland of the marines fourth with 234 and Captain Wilkinson of Washington fifth with 234. The match twelve gold medals were offered and $300 divided.

German Ambassador Walter Von Berg has taken as his official residence at 6 Grosvenor square. He signed a three-year lease yesterday. Many houses, most of them were offered at prohibitive rents. The residence is a plain but commodious dwelling in the best section. Three doors away is a house recently purchased by the German government, while the Russian and the Chilian legations are in the same square. The Portuguese, Manchester and Belgian legations possess houses in Grosvenor square.

Younger members of the royal family are combining to present to the Duchess of Connaught, and this is to be a magnificent crown jewel. The design is composed of floral strawberry leaves. It had been proposed to have stones for the thistles, but Princess Patricia prefers diamonds, and her wish in this regard is gratified. Queen Alexandra is giving her eldest granddaughter a beautiful diamond collar. It is expected that she will wear it at her wedding.

HOT WEATHER HINTS.

Ice Water and Ice Cream Not Harmful in Themselves, But Wholesome.

Keeping Cool Mentally Quite as Important as Keeping Cool Physically.

[The Independent.]

A great change has come over the attitude of health experts with regard to the ways and means of preserving health in hot weather in recent years. Almost any one of middle age will remember very well when it was the custom to decry the use of ice water as particularly deleterious, and most of the preceding generation were quite sure that this habit of drinking ice water in large quantities, which had developed among Americans in the latter part of the nineteenth century would surely bring about serious disturbances of digestion and perhaps lead to such degeneration of digestive powers as would leave men in their later middle ages the victims of incurable dyspepsia, or at least seriously impaired digestion. These prophecies of evil have not been fulfilled. The craving for cold drinks in hot weather has proved not only to be entirely natural, but also quite wholesome. The croakings of our European brethren, who were quite sure that our American customs in this matter were eminently harmful, have now to a great extent turned into purrings of satisfaction while they imitate to some extent at least the American consumption of ice.

Physicians have come around, and at the beginning of the hot weather, the New York city department of health, through the commissioner, announced that cold drink and especially iced drinks were not harmful in themselves but, on the contrary, wholesome, and that anything that cools the system during hot temperatures is likely to do good rather than harm. It is another case of instinct and the taste for things proving to be correct in spite of prejudice, and the declaration of those who thought they knew better from reasoning to the contrary. Even the use of ice cream at the end of a meal is now recognized to be a help rather than a hindrance to digestion. It cools off the stomach for a moment, but the reaction that follows immediately actually brings more blood to that organ and a nervous tone to the mucous membrane and its glands that causes them to digest better. During very hot weather there is a relaxation of the circulation affecting the stomach as well as the exterior of the body, and just the same healthy reaction caused by cold water on the outside takes place on the mucous membranes on the inside when they are bathed with cold water. In very delicate individuals the reaction may not take place, but the effect is usually beneficial in all those who care for cold things.

Another interesting change of opinion has come with regard to the taking of fluids. The teaching of the school physiologies used to be that fluids when taken at meal times diluted the gastric juice and hampered digestion as a consequence. A large number of experiments and observations have been made during the past 10 years, however, which serve to demonstrate that fluids taken at meal times do not disturb digestion, and that the so-called dilution of the gastric juice is a theoretic supposition not confirmed by investigation. On the contrary, those who take fluids abundantly digest with less discomfort, absorb with more ease and get much more nutrition out of their food than those who take a more or less dry diet. Everything must be done in reason, but even a pint or more of fluid at meals is beneficial rather than harmful. Instinct and natural craving have once more proved to be more correct than medical dogmas; in warm weather the consoling doctrine that an abundance of fluid and of cold fluid does good is well worth knowing.

Fluids on the outside and especially cool water morning and evening reduce temperature and make not only the individual feel more comfortable, but actually make him more capable of resisting the pathological effect of heat. Old traditions with regard to the necessity for not plunging into cold water when one is over-heated are now rejected after many observations. In Turkish baths men go directly from the hot room into a cold plunge with benefit. Patients with a temperature from 103 degrees F. to 105 degrees F. are plunged directly into an iced bath. Patients who come into the hospitals during the hot weather suffering from heat stroke, or so-called sunstroke, are cooled off as rapidly as possible by means of ice and water. It is life-saving to do so.

The old idea seemed to be that if human nature liked a thing it was probably bad for it. Many a poor fever patient craving cold drinks had to go thirsty or take warm fluids. Our forefathers would have been quite sure that most fever patients would expire at once or at least run great risk of death if they were put into cold water. They would have been quite sure, too, that exposure to cold air would be almost necessarily fatal to them. Our fever patients are now treated as far as possible in the open air, the windows of wards are taken out, and even children suffering from pneumonia are treated on the roofs of our hospitals. Cold air is deliberately used as the means of reducing temperature. Physicians are not afraid of drafts, though they know that if there is much dust in the air that blows past one there is danger in it. It is not the air itself, however, but the dust that is dangerous.

Hot weather health hints then run something like this: Keep cool; take plenty of cold water—ice water, unless there is some personal idiosyncrasy against it; take cold food as far as it is palatable; do not hesitate to take ices and ice cream at the end of a meal, for the reaction produced by the application of cold makes digestion better; take your coffee cold at the end of dinner in the shape of effervescent coffee. If you care for it that way; wear cool clothing and get plenty of cool air as far as it is possible; do not fear drafts—on board steamers at sea people are subject to drafts for days and never suffer from it—take plenty of cold water on the outside as well as on the inside and be sure that as a rule anything that you care for and that makes you more comfortable is good for you. The only exception to this is cold stimulants, the reaction after which is always unfavorable and the ultimate result distinctly uncomfortable.

Finally, keep cool mentally. Those who live in tropical climates know how to take things easy during the hottest portion of the day. Above all, avoid excitement and worry at this time. Learn to do some of your work in the early morning hours and in the evening and avoid strenuous mental effort in the middle of the day when it is very hot. Keeping cool mentally is quite as important as keeping cool physically. It is somewhat hard to learn the lesson, but it is well worth learning.

The Bolero And Apron.

This new model has various features. There are the draped skirt and bolero coat of black Jansdowne, the draped satin vest and apron tunic, turning up at the edge to show a facing of the black Jansdowne; the inner vest of Futurist printed chiffon, and the belt and sleeve terminations of Oriental embroidered banding. Several colors are combined in this banding, but the general suggestion of the costume is dark.

THE MASTER COMRADE.

[Henry Dumont, in National Magazine.]

The master comradc, so the records tell,
In bitter poverty and pain was born,
And toiled with hands, and oft was weary, worn;
Yet helped the faint who by the wayside fell,
And prayed for those who, blind, insensible,
About his brows had found the crown of thorn.
The scornful priest He withered up with scorn,
But could not judge the woman at the well.
Rich in the riches of the heart was He,
And yet a homeless proletarian
He gave his life to save and to set free,
And left a record on the hearts of men
More deeply graven than with sword or pen,
Which speaks for brotherhood—humanity!

FANCIES.

Some who sow wild oats reap grass widows.—[Philadelphia Record.

Brevity may be the soul of wit, but it isn't its sole existence.—[Philadelphia Record.

"My dear, having your father to live with us won't work."

"But neither will I live."—[Baltimore American.

He (enthusiastically)—You look too enough to eat this evening!

She—Well, be careful; I'm no free lunch.—[Lippincott's.

"Have the Jinxes a family skeleton?"

"Yes, and she's wearing one of these silhouette gowns, too."—[Harper's Post.

"Say, ma, it's just a big shame to start school so early."

"When do they start it?"

"I dunno. Anyway, it's too early."—[Cleveland Plain-Dealer.

Mrs. Tillmains is worried about her new husband. She fears he will never become elegant and refined, because he cannot learn to put on a monocle without twisting his mouth up to one side.—[Washington Star.

"I don't think a woman ought to run for office even if she votes," remarked the serious citizen.

"No," replied Mr. Meekton. "It is bad enough a real boss never thinks of holding office himself."—[Washington Star.

Beggar (at door)—Can you give me a pair of old shoes, lady?

Lady—No, I can't; besides those you are now wearing seem to be brand new.

Beggar—That's just it, mum; they spoil my business.—[Boston Transcript.

"What's the baby crying for now?" asked the head of the house from the depth of his paper.

"He wants his own way," answered the mother.

And with his mind on the lines stock quotations Hubby replied, "Well, if it's his, why don't you let him have it?"—[Lippincott's.

"Why won't you buy something, my sister?" demanded the girl at the charity fair.

"Because I only buy from the homely girls," said the man. "They have a harder time making sales."

The girl was not offended, and he worked this right down the line.—[Louisville Courier-Journal.

Mocha Cream Cake.

Cream well together one cupful of butter and two cupfuls and a half of fine granulated sugar. Beat thoroughly together six eggs. Mix and sift four cupfuls of flour, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one-third teaspoonful of salt. To the butter mixture add alternately some of the beaten eggs, a cupful of sweet milk and the flour. When all are added beat hard for 10 minutes, then bake in three or four layers.

Filling.

Scald one pint of milk, add two tablespoonfuls of corn starch and a teacup of sugar mixed to a paste with a little cold milk and cook and stir from only for 15 minutes. Add quickly the yolks of eggs beaten with one scant cupful of sugar and one-half cupful of cocoa or chocolate. Stir constantly. Remove from the fire, add one teaspoonful each of vanilla and bitter almond and put between the cake layers when cooled.

OCCIDENT FLOUR.

Occident Flour costs a little more than other flours. It is made for those people who care enough about bread to notice the difference in different kinds.

The price of Occident Flour is at all times sufficiently high to permit—

—The exclusive use of the choicest selected Northern spring wheat.

—The maintenance of the finest, cleanest, most sanitary and most modern mills in the world.

—The employment of the most extensive purifying processes ever used in flour milling, including the thorough washing of every kernel of wheat before grinding.

—The employment of the most skillful and painstaking millers to maintain the many complicated processes at highest efficiency.

THE OCCIDENT GUARANTEE.

We guarantee the quality not only good, but enough better than other flours to be immediately noticeable—that you can make bread from it, that in purity, whiteness, rich flavor, fine even texture and general goodness is better than the bread you can make from any other flour.

TAMMANY'S CHANCES.

Tammany would have had three opponents in the field if the Republican politicians could have persuaded Whitman to do so dishonorable a thing as to bolt the Mitchel nomination and be a straight Republican candidate. The division of the anti-Tammany votes between Mitchel and Whitman would have insured the election of the Tammany candidate beyond a peradventure.

There will be two anti-Tammany candidates now, but it is not absolutely certain that they will divide the opposition vote between them and give Murphy's man a walk-over. Of course the fusion movement will be weakened by the candidacy of Mayor Gaynor, who will be run on an independent and on his record in the mayoralty as a platform, but will not that candidacy also divide the Tammany vote? In the last election Gaynor was the Tammany candidate; if Tammany dismisses him now will it not alienate a part of the Tammany voters?

It seems not impossible that Gaynor's candidacy should draw some of the opposition votes away from Mitchel, but it should also draw straight-out Democratic votes away from McCall. Gaynor will take his chances on his personal popularity and public approval of his administration. That he is a great deal better than a typical Tammany candidate for mayor is unquestionable, but the wisdom of his nomination by the police department is at least open to question.

Whitman has made a great reputation for himself as the anti-Tammany district attorney by his relentless prosecution of the "gun men" and their police allies, and Whitman will run on the fusion ticket with Mitchel, who will have the good will, at least, of the national administration. That might be worth far more than Gaynor's patronage to any candidate, even if patronage be not used for the benefit of his interest. The longer the fight on Governor Sulzer goes on the more it is likely to turn decent and intelligent public opinion against Tammany Hall, although Sulzer himself must stand on his own guilt or innocence.

The result of it all is that it is not certain that Tammany will not be beaten, and the fusion ticket seems more likely to win than the mere personal following of Mayor Gaynor.

CARE OF THE INSANE AND DEFECTIVE.

Objection is often made by members of legislatures and by individuals to the expenditure of large sums by states for the care of the insane and defective. These fail to remember or are not aware that the care of such persons, whether in public institutions or in private homes, is really on the end borne by the state in most cases with the difference that in the former it is better and often less expensive. At the same time there is some possibility that improvement may be noted in some of the cases treated while in homes there is little chance of any benefit to them, because the care given there is not expert or scientific. As a matter of economy, therefore, it is better to provide state institutions for the insane and defective than to allow them to remain in their homes, where the proper care cannot be given them as at least as people and the treatment not being the most approved medical and moral ones, and they are besides from their home surroundings morally bad ones with whom they associate.

It is conceded by all competent authorities who make a study of the subject that mental insanity in its many forms is a disease for which every community is doing a constantly increasing penalty for its neglect of the insane and defective, and that it is paying it financially as well as in the sufferings of those and those so often the result of lack of or failure of treatment of these mentally afflicted. The conclusion to be drawn from such a belief is inevitably that every dollar spent for the public care of such persons is in the best and truest sense economy, and that the states and the nation cannot afford to do otherwise than made provision liberally for those who are at best and under any conditions a burden, and must continue to be so unless they are cured of their ailments. It is foolish, therefore, for either legislators or individuals to oppose the expenditure of money for this purpose, when by so doing they are simply increasing the burden of the state and the misery of those who are afflicted.

In this connection it is urged strongly by those who have made a study of insanity in its many forms, its causes and its effects upon individuals and society in general, that the relation of crime to mental derangement and defectiveness should be considered much more carefully, so that the legal and medical aspects of cases of this kind may be better adjusted. It is the belief of these men that often there is failure on the part of the courts to act in cases of insanity in accordance with the merits of the situation, because of lack of knowledge of the medical conditions which obtain, and which ought to have an influence in deciding the action to be taken. There has not been any very serious attempt to adjust those two aspects of cases of insanity, and it is regarded as time that something definite and decisive were done in that direction, that the most impartial justice may be rendered to the individual and to society in such cases.

Another method recommended for treatment of insanity in its incipient forms, and more particularly mental defectiveness in children, is closely associated with the school departments of cities and towns. It is urged that all backward children in the public schools be given mental examinations by competent persons and all juvenile delinquents receive similar care. Such a course it is believed would probably be the first step toward the stationing of trained medical experts in juvenile courts, and in fact all the lower criminal courts, so that incipient cases of mental defectiveness may be detected and those who need attention rather than punishment be sure of receiving it. This it is held is not often the case under existing conditions, and it is the belief of those acquainted with the trend of such cases that often children and youths are confirmed in defectiveness or incipient insanity when they might be benefitted or even cured if given proper treatment instead of being punished as criminals.

THE RECEDING AREA OF CRANKS.

The course of empire is not the only thing which moves westward, nor is the red man the only object which retires before a civilization advancing from the east. Thirty years ago, or perhaps 35 years ago, the notion of flat money, irredeemable paper whose value was to be conferred by the legislative declaration upon it, was known as the Ohio idea. Later than this, say 29 or 25 years ago, it was the Iowa idea. Seventeen years ago, in the first Bryan campaign, this flat-money issue was replaced by free silver, and while the delusion was widespread it was most acute so far west as Colorado. As commerce has extended into the agricultural regions those financial crazes to which such populations have been especially prone die out for want of support.

The governor of Kansas has just been telling the world that, although the corn crop has suffered severely from heat and drought, the state is highly prosperous. It has good wheat and other crops, plenty of money in the banks and is entirely satisfied with things. Fifteen or 20 years ago no man could talk like that and hope for any political support in Kansas; if he escaped being driven out of the state he would have been fortunate.

When Populism was at its height "calamity howling" was the chief industry of the state, and it was not without excuse. The western end of Kansas is very dry and farmers who rushed in there for cheap land lost nearly everything. Of course they charged it to the Money Power and Wall Street and the gold standard. Then the grasshoppers inflicted tremendous damage, which was usually attributed to New York or the railroads or the millionaires. In the intervening time farming has been supplemented by business, the people have been making money for 15 years, many of the farmers hold bank stock and most of them are depositors, and there are manufactures and the state is no longer at the mercy of a drought or a flock of grasshoppers. Hence opinion on the currency and other things has been growing conservative.

There seems to be some difference among the friends of Governor Sulzer regarding the proposed action for criminal libel in connection with the recent impeachment proceedings. Former Judge D. Cady Herrick, who leads the governor's legal forces, says he knows "of no intent of Sulzer to do anything with any alleged criminal proceedings against Charles F. Murphy, Senator Frawley or Assemblyman Levy, and are not pursuing any investigation of a criminal character against any one." On the other hand Judge Lynn G. Arnold in New York, and others in Albany in the confidence of Governor Sulzer, reiterated the declaration that steps to prosecute the informants have already been taken both in New York and Albany counties. To add to the confusion, a statement is given out from the executive chamber that "Governor Sulzer himself will go before the grand jury if it requires his presence." Evidently he expects criminal proceedings to be instituted in the case.

The Democratic House caucus having finally adopted an agricultural currency amendment, this disposes of the last of the big controversial issues in the bill, and there is now little doubt of the passage of the measure. The new amendment, sponsored both by the "insurgent contingent" and by the banking and currency committee, puts paper based on agricultural products on the same basis as commercial paper for banking purposes and extends the maturity of notes and bills admitted to discount under the amendment to 90 days, instead of the originally proposed 45 days.

It looks as if Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the English suffragette leader, who has advised a holiday in the action against the government, had at last consented to a truce in order to strengthen the hands of those members of the British cabinet who are working to make the enfranchisement of women a government measure. In this she shows some good sense, at last.

If any one doubts that Newport is the natural and proper home of the national tennis tournament he should have been at the Casino this morning and seen the great crowd of enthusiasts and the congestion on the Avenue and the neighboring streets. During tennis week, as all the year round, there is but one Newport.

It looks very much as if we were only at the beginning of the latest phase of the unsavory Thaw affair. It is too bad that we must have it before us again for weeks and perhaps months. Everybody but the man himself is pretty tired of Harry Thaw, and perhaps he himself is somewhat weary.

President Wilson is evidently willing to give the Huerta administration in Mexico every chance for a fair hearing. He certainly cannot be accused of being precipitate in his submission of the situation to Congress.

Newport has had a pleasant visit from the polo and the tennis men, with good sport in both these fields and an especially brilliant tennis series. We are sorry to lose them both.

Governor Lind went to Mexico and is coming back. That seems to be all there is to it.

The appointment of Colonel Willard to the Park Commission is a wise one.

FIRE LOSS IN AMERICA.

Annual Total Stuns the European, Where Conditions Are Entirely Different.

While I was attending the morning drill of the central fire station at Dresden in Saxony, the captain in command told me that the city had, on an average, about six alarms of fire a week. I casually remarked that we had 25 a day in New York. He looked at me in wonderment and doubt and when I repeated that we actually had between 25 and 30 alarms of fire a day in the borough of Manhattan alone, he threw up his hands and exclaimed, "Thank Heaven, it is not as bad as that here, or our beautiful city would be destroyed!"

And so we find, thanks to superior building construction, less hurry and rush in business methods, and a wholesome regard on the part of the citizens for certain rigid laws covering the use of explosives and materials of all kinds which usually cause fire, the lot of the foreign firefighter is not as strenuous as that of his brother fireman on this side of the water. Because of the excellent character of the buildings abroad fires burn slowly and rarely extend beyond the room or floor in which they start.

Here, on the other hand, the conditions are entirely different. Our fires are larger, more destructive and more frequent, compelling us to support not only the most effective, but most expensive fire departments in the world; and yet, in spite of all this, our annual fire losses are from 10 to 20 times more than those of any country in Europe.

Better building laws and the universal adoption of fire prevention ordinances are going to change all this for us, in time, but as yet our annual fire loss stuns the average European by its enormous total.

VACANT LOT GARDENING.

Waste Places in Newport Might be Improved by Flowers and Vegetables.

[Civic League Bulletin.]

Is there any way in which Newport can improve her vacant lots and waste fields? Some attempts have been occasionally made to borrow a field or rent one for the summer season and it is strange to see how unwilling some owners are to allow their unoccupied lands to be used. Empty lots that have been unused and in the same condition for years, except that they look rather worse each year, are held back by owners who seem to distrust promises of improvement. If the question was put directly to a reluctant owner he could not affirm that planting flowers and vegetables in his empty lot would impair its selling value. One public spirited citizen once offered a vacant lot to be used for a school garden. After some years he sold his property. He certainly enjoyed the years when the pretty school gardens flourished, and in fact neglected seeing it lying idle and neglected the summer after he sold it. If a man would like to sell his vacant lots to advantage it would seem to be a good plan to make them look as attractive as possible. A field full of growing vegetables with flower borders suggests possibilities to the passer-by and perhaps makes him long for a field of his own.

Although there is no decided movement toward vacant lot gardening in Newport there are many little vegetable gardens connected with the homes and many little yards are planted to their fullest capacity. In the outlying districts of the city where there is much vacant land, there seems to be a kind of co-operative neighborhood gardening. That is, a large piece of ground is divided into several portions and cultivated by families in the neighborhood. Mothers and children have their part in the gardens and raise their favorite flowers or vegetables. Sometimes people live at quite a distance from their gardens and deserve much credit for the good showing they make under the circumstances. These large tracts of land almost in the country are very pretty to see but why should not the waste places in the city be filled in the same manner? So many citizens have expressed themselves in favor of vacant lot gardening that something might be accomplished if they would only come together and move together upon the vacant lots.

ORIGINALITY LACKING.

Preparatory Work Too Necessary Before Entering West Point or Annapolis.

[Scribner's.]

Very few boys are able to enter military institutions without making special preparation. By special preparation, I mean that given by some reputable school that makes a specialty of preparing boys for the academies. The necessity for this appears in several ways. In geography, history and grammar, subjects essentially very easy, the boy has very likely had his training scattered over several years in grammar school and four years in high school. Thus he forgets a vast amount of essential details—and it is a question whether he ever got them with sufficient thoroughness. In all these subjects a boy needs review and instruction under a guiding hand familiar with the requirements.

In geometry, especially, the boy's public-school training is totally inadequate. I have yet to learn of a secondary school's teaching a boy to find the side of a pentadecagon, pentagon, or dodecagon inscribed in a circle of radius r. Yet in nearly every examination for West Point or Annapolis it is required that the candidate compute the side and area of four or five regular polygons. Especially for Annapolis, the geometry examination consists almost entirely of original work, problem work that is fairly easy, but very unusual. I believe it to be the most sensible kind of geometry—the kind that every school ought to teach, but does not. And in all the other mathematics subjects the elementary-school training in this country lacks that thoroughness and wide range that are necessary to the candidate's equipment.

The course in the high school or academy usually touches the high places only, and the student knows only the problems and methods given in the one text book assigned to him. He learns those mechanically, or by heart, without really understanding the subject as a whole. Our teachers, in their daily work and in their examinations, fail to see the advantage in giving students questions taken from other books than those used in the classroom. Thus they neglect the only sure way to find out whether the student knows the subject, or only the book.

A SORDID SCHEME BLOCKED.

[Providence Journal.]

A scheme for making money out of Commodore Perry's restored war vessel, the Niagara, was very properly objected to by the Pennsylvania members of the Centennial Interstate Committee, and the old brig which won the battle of Lake Erie, accordingly will not be used for sordid commercial purposes at any of the lake ports. All who desire to see the celebrated vessel can do so without payment of a 50-cent fee. It is surprising that so objectionable a proposition was submitted to the committee in charge of the Niagara. The Lawrence, Perry's flagship, was used as a side show at the Centennial in Philadelphia in 1876. It should be enough that one vessel of Perry's fleet was turned over to the money grabbers. Fortunately the Niagara is in better hands.

THE VERY IDEA.

[Lippincott's]

Two suburban mothers met on the train one day, and the topic of their conversation was their daughters.

"How did your daughter pass her examination for a position as teacher?" asked one.

"Pass!" was the answer. "She didn't pass at all. Maybe you wouldn't believe it, but they asked that girl about things that happened long before she was born."

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—The fence about Aquidneck Park has been taken down.

—Barge Reanus is in, with 900 tons of ice for the Newport Ice Company.

—Mrs. Samuel F. Hopkins of Fall River is visiting Mrs. A. Chace Sanford in this city.

—Mr. John Flavel Hubbard, Jr., is guest of Mr. and Mrs. Bradford Norman at "Brook Farm."

—Civil Engineer Lyle F. Bellinger, U. S. N., and family have returned from a visit to the Adirondacks.

—Pay has been received by the members of the Naval Reserves who participated in the recent tour of duty.

—The dark fire of an automobile on Thames street this morning threw a man off a horse, but he clung to the bridle and escaped any injury.

—Today's registers at the Casino include Mr. A. Heaton Robertson, P. M. Scott, R. K. Waterbury, F. Pearson and John Flavel Hubbard, Jr.

—Mr. Edward N. Tailer, who has spent the summer at Tuxedo, Saratoga and Richfield Springs, will spend part of september with his son, Mr. T. Suffern Tailer, in Newport.

—A recent issue of the Churchman contains an article on "Building the Boy into the Church—the Summer Camp", by Rev. Ernest J. Dennen, formerly of this city and now of Lynn.

—50-footer Samuri has been put in condition at the shipyard for the coming series of races, about five in all. They will be held Friday and Saturday at Oyster Bay and Labor day at Larchmont.

—Mr. Raymond Sullivan took a spin on the ocean route from Bailey's beach to Easton's beach Monday, leaving Bailey's about 10:30. He was accompanied by a boat and seemed to make good progress. The sea was fairly calm and the tide helped the swimmer.

—Steamer City of Philadelphia is in with 600 tons of ice for the Newport Ice Company, but draws so much water that she cannot reach the dock. This leaves a cargo of ice available for some company which needs it, and it may go to Providence.

—Commander Timothy Sullivan of Camp Thomas went to New York Monday, to enter his daughter at Pratt Institute. He will leave there early next week for Buffalo, to attend the annual encampment of the United Spanish War Veterans.

—Mr. Joseph H. Teal, local agent for the New Shoreham, was called to his home at Block Island Sunday by the sudden illness of his father, Captain William Teal, who died Monday morning. In his absence Mr. George B. Smith is acting agent for the steamer.

—Mr. Louis Braguiere thinks he is out one dress shirt, one pair of diamond cuff links and a valuable sapphire stud. He was supposed to have the shirt in a dress suit case, ready for a shift, but it was not there and his man says he is sure he put it in the case. The fact seems to be that Mr. Braguiere is out the articles named, but it seems strange to the police that only these were taken.

—Former members of the Newport Artillery and fine members of the company are to meet at the armory Wednesday evening, when the committee to arrange for the organization of a veteran corps will submit a plan which has been worked out and approved by the company. If this is agreeable to the men who are eligible to membership there is no reason apparently why the corps cannot be formally organized at the coming meeting.

—The Sakonnet River Oyster Company shipped some scup Monday, for the first time in more than a week, and in consequence the local markets again have these fish. The butterfish are still around, as Carpenter from the west bay had nine barrels this morning. The mackerel are also coming in better than for some time. Monday and F. S. Willard had 41 barrels, the Lilian 5, the Marguerite 4, the Clara T. 11, the N. A. Rowe 10 and the Pearl 5. C. H. Anderson has put in a new trap up the bay.

CASINO TENNIS BAR CLOSED.

Found Running Again Today But Shut Down at Noon Under Orders.

Mayor MacLeod Serves Notice of Commissioner's Complaint on the Corporation.

After receiving the report of License Commissioner Tobin Monday, that illegal liquor selling was going on at the Casino, Mayor MacLeod wrote President Wetmore of the Casino corporation relative to the matter, and after sending the letter anticipated that there would be no further cause for complaint.

This morning Mr. Tobin went to the Casino again and found the bar running as usual, and not only that but little boys 12 years of age about, handling bottles and doing work. He at once sought out Chief Crowley, but the latter said he had heard nothing from the mayor. Mr. Tobin then tried to locate the mayor, but failed to do so until early this afternoon, in his office. In the meantime an eye was kept on the situation at the Casino and at 12:25, when the business of the day was largely over, Chief Crowley went to the bar and announced that it must close, and it did close. Then the commissioner went to the mayor and there was a long talk over the entire situation along the lines that, while licensed dealers must comply with certain restrictions, illegal sellers have practically free rein. It is understood that Mr. Tobin revealed to the mayor things which had not come to the attention of the head of the city through police channels.

Many seem to have gained a wrong impression regarding the affair, thinking that it is in some way a complaint against the Casino Club. This is not so, for the club has a license under which liquors are sold to members. In addition to this there is the Casino restaurant, and at tennis club a bar has been operated on the piazza connecting the theatre and court tennis buildings. There appears to be no license for the dispensing of liquor in either of these places. It is generally recognized by those who frequent the Casino that selling in these places has been going on for years, and it does not appear that there has ever been a license for the piazza barroom, but of course the mayor was compelled, upon having his attention called to the matter, to take action.

Incidentally, it may be stated that Carl Berger took up his license today. The place was not licensed when arrangements were being made for the naval committee dinner and there was opposition to holding the dinner there when this was known. This was arranged by an application for a license being filed, and this was duly granted August 7, but it was not until today that the trouble was taken to secure possession of the paper.

FINED FOR ISLAND PARK THEFT.

Special officer Garrick picked up a man who gave himself away as being an escaped fugitive from Tiverton. The police reported to the Tiverton force, who reported that Sergeant Chase of Portsmouth was the official who was looking for one George A. Grinnell. Town Sergeant Chase, who was the man, came in and this morning Grinnell pleaded guilty to the larceny of a rain coat worth $15 and an automobile robe worth $10 from the automobile of a man named Walker. The theft took place at Island Park August 21 and the property was recovered. He paid the fine and costs. It looks like business for this man, for he had a polo coat and some other clothing which apparently belongs to some one else.

The police have picked up a girl aged 15, who has been missing from her home in Providence for several days. She has been sent home.

The police have a handbag and three cucumbers which have not yet been claimed. The handbag is all that is worth anything now.

The insane man who had been under observation for two days was this morning ordered sent to the state asylum.

ENGLISH MUSICAL COMPOSER.

Michael Maybrick, Writer of Many Popular Songs, Dead.

BUXTON, England, August 26.—Michael Maybrick, the English musical composer, who, under the name of "Stephen Adams" wrote some of the most popular songs in the English language, died here today, at the age of 63. Among his compositions were "Nancy Lee," "The Holy City" and "A Warrior Bold." He was a native of Liverpool, but lived for many years in the Isle of Wight, where he devoted himself to municipal politics, serving five terms as mayor of Ryde.

COUNTERFEIT $10 NOTES.

Government Secret Service Men on Trail of Makers.

WASHINGTON, August 26.—Two counterfeit $10 national bank notes have made their appearance, and the secret service force of the government is hot on the trail of the men who are thus seeking to increase the volume of currency. One bill is accredited to the First National Bank of Chicago and the other purports to have been issued by the Farmers and Merchants National Bank of Los Angeles. The Treasury Department in a statement issued today says: "The figures in the bank and Treasury numbers are poorly formed and out of alignment. The lathe work is very good. The back of the bills is a darker shade of green than the genuine. The paper feels thick and harsh."

The bills, the secret service officials say, are formed of two pieces of paper between which silk threads are distributed.

COUNTRY HOUSE DESTROYED.

Residence at Finchley Burned by Suffragette Sympathizers.

LONDON, August 26.—The news of the truce between the militant suffragettes and the British government evidently has not reached the districts outside London, as a fine country house in the suburban town of Finchley, to the north of London, was burned down early this morning by suffragette sympathizers, who left a quantity of suffrage literature among the ruins. The place was occupied only by a caretaker, the family having gone away for the summer.

GOLF CLUB PLAY.

At the Newport Golf Club Monday two matches in the second round of the Nelson match play tournament for the president's cup resulted as follows:

H. O. Havemeyer won from George S. Cozzens, 4 up and 3 to play.

Grenville Kane won from Rev. Roderick Terry, D. D., 1 up.

In the semi-finals in the mixed foursomes for the cups given by Senor Riano, the Spanish minister, the results follow:

Mrs. Clarence W. Dean and William H. Sands beat Miss Anna Sands and George L. Scott, 3 up and 1 to play.

Miss Janet Fish and Grenville Kane beat Mrs. Arthur Scott Burden and George L. Scott, 3 up and 2 to play.

THE CAUCUS SYSTEM.

Democrats Defend Their Action in Advancing the Tariff Bill.

Majority Control of Party—President Wilson Keeps the Cartoonists Guessing.

[Washington correspondence of the News.]

WASHINGTON, August 25.—From time to time the caucus system by which the pending tariff bill has been advanced to its present position has been severely condemned. The Democrats, defending what they have done in caucus, frankly say that only by taking the bill into caucus and each member of the party subordinating his personal views to those of the majority was it possible to pass a tariff revision bill. They are right in that. If every man held out for his own ideas and insisted upon protection for the products of his state the present low tariff bill would soon become a protection measure. Criticisms by those who always vote for low duties on what their people buy and high duties on what their people sell will not affect caucus dictation, however vicious the caucus system may be considered.

The rule of a party majority must be enforced or the rule by parties abandoned. If this country has reached a stage where the party system of government is ended then there should be no caucus. If parties which are successful are to control, then the majority of those parties, voiced in caucus expression, must control the party. It was not the rule of the majority by caucus which disrupted the Republican party during the last four years. It was the rule by a handful of leaders who insisted that they were the party and should control party policy.

When we see the cartoonists showing the President buried in a mass of work, surrounded by stacks of documents on the Mexican question, flanked by piles of applications for office, working hard to pass the tariff bill and still harder to pass the currency bill and generally fussed up over the labors of his position, we cannot help but laugh a little.

President Wilson can be seen every fine day over in Virginia at the Country Club playing golf. About three evenings of each week he takes in the summer theatres in Washington and occasionally takes a little trip down the Potomac. The trouble with the cartoonists is that they think the President is doing all this worrying and working himself to death. Mr. Wilson does not propose to do anything of the kind.

"I can't stay here today to hear you make your speech," remarked a newspaper friend to John Sharp Williams. "If you don't stay I won't speak," replied Williams. But he broke his promise. Williams can't help speaking on the tariff. But he was excusable that particular day, because the agricultural schedule was under consideration and he had charge of it. Still, it is unlikely that he would go a whole day during a tariff discussion without saying something. The strain would be too great.

Senator Clapp of Minnesota was making a speech which was several times interrupted. "I am willing to let in any one with an illuminating point," he said, "but I do not to follow up a lot of blind trails. I prefer debate [illegible] to the usual high school graduating exercises we so often have in the Senate."

"Scratch a Democrat," said Senator Penrose, "and occasionally you will find a spotted protectionist. The most vicious, the most indefensible of all items in the Payne bill was the duty on quebracho which was placed there at the behest of the Democratic Senators of Virginia to protect the chestnut bark of their state."

"There is something about the whole tariff system itself," said Senator Clapp, "that makes men towards and which tends to dishonesty. There is no feature of the tariff so apt to produce that phase of mentality than tariff for revenue. The man who stands for protection can stand where you can attack him. But the man who stands for tariff for revenue, whether his motive be good or bad, is beyond the reach of attack." The Republicans who opposed the last tariff bill and are opposing the present tariff bill are in a quandary which is voiced by the statement of the Minnesota Senator.

Senator Page, the amiable Vermont Senator, indulged in a bit of prophecy, as he closed his speech on the tariff. "There is one legitimate industry in which I think my Democratic friends are engaged. They are making a Republican state out of Louisiana." Even the Louisiana Senators who oppose the tariff bill will say that is a very hard task.

ENLISTMENT LAW FAILS.

Many Difficulties Encountered in Establishing an Army Reserve.

The military authorities are much discouraged over the difficulties encountered in establishing an army reserve. They have met with little success and no encouragement, although much was expected of the law of August 24, 1912. The army reserve provision was a part of the seven-year enlistment scheme. Recruiting has proceeded with great difficulty because of that law. It has been almost impossible, say the recruiting officers, to convince applicants for enlistment that they are not actually bound to the army for seven years, while in fact they may separate from the army at the end of one year.

The confusion resulting from the law, which was a compromise between the views of leaders in Congress and the War Department, will probably lead to the enactment of a new statute. Secretary Garrison purposes to urge Congress to reduce the regular term of enlistment to three years. He favors an even shorter term, believing in the now familiar theory that it does not take long to train a soldier, and once he has been put through the drill he can be advantageously discharged to give place to a new man. The discharged soldier will go back to civil life, but will be available for duty in the reserves. It was expected that an army reserve would soon be formed sufficient to make a dependable military body, but there is no indication that any such result will follow from the existing law.

The law, aside from its failure to achieve the definite object contemplated, is declared defective and difficult of execution in many respects. The subject has been discussed by the War College branch of the General Staff, and the conclusion has been reached that these questions, largely technical in their character, should be answered in order that doubts and uncertainties expressed by enlisted men and those who contemplate enlistment may be removed.

It was against the judgment of many influential Senators and Representatives that the enlistment and reserve law was enacted. There will be, therefore, little difficulty in having the law changed, but from present indications it will not be amended in accordance with the recommendations of the Secretary of War. There is certain to be a controversy on this subject in the House and Senate military committees, although Democrats are in control of the committees and in charge of the War Department.

M'LOUGHLIN AGAIN CHAMPION.

this in 1911 and McLoughlin in 1912 and 1913, but must win again to secure it as his own, three years being required on this cup. He also takes the large silver cup given to the winner of the all-comers' and one of the two cups, given by the Newport Casino, for the national championship in doubles, on which two years are required. Touchard and Little won the double championship in 1911 and have their names on the cups, and McLoughlin and Bundy have won them two years.

Williams wins the second prize, a handsome silver cup, which goes outright; to the runner-up of the tournament.

Miss Edythe Deacon was wearing this morning a white linen gown and a hat of Tuscan straw with wild flowers. Mrs. Hermann Oelrichs wore hand-painted chiffon with a black chiffon girdle and a black tulle hat with black aigrettes. Mrs. Paulding Pendleton's cafe au lait broadcloth coat suit was worn with a small black hat with a black bow. Mrs. Lorillard Spencer, Jr., appeared in a satin striped chiffon gown and a leghorn hat veiled in black and with a pink rose. Mrs. Richard Stevens was seen in flowered organdie, kimona style, and a black hat trimmed at the side with a black tulle bow. Mrs. William Payne Thompson's shell rose ratine suit was worn with a small black hat with aigrettes.

Mrs. Francis Vanderbilt had a cafe au lait net gown and a black tulle hat with a tulle bow. She carried a cerise parasol. Mrs. John Astor was wearing a gown of rose mull and a large black hat with trimmings of black and white. Mrs. Peter D. Martin wore a combination gown of chiffon and linen and one of the popular velvet hats with a tulle bow. Mrs. H. A. C. Taylor was in a gown of blue and white chiffon with bands of Nazarin blue and a gray hat with blue morning glories. Mrs. Henry Clews wore a white broadcloth coat suit and a white silk hat with a sable band and a white feather rosette. Mrs. Elsie Dyer's embroidered chiffon gown was worn with a green hat with green orchids. Mrs. James P. Kernochan over a white chiffon gown embroidered in black wore a long black silk coat. Her small black hat was worn with black aigrettes.

Mrs. J. Thompson Spencer's gown of eyelet mull was worn with a kimona of Japanese silk and a tan hat with Nell rose plumes. Miss Elizabeth Sands was seen in a white lawn gown with cherry ribbons, and a white tulle hat with a pink tulle bow. Miss Roberta Willard wore a gown of mauve charmeuse and orchids of the same shade. A black hat with a black bow completed an attractive costume. Mrs. Richard Gambrill was seen in a French blue suit and a small cafe au lait hat with plumes of the same hue. Mrs. Moreland had white mull and a cream hat with pink roses.

CROWDS HERE FOR TENNIS.

From All Directions They Came to Make Up the Largest Gathering Known.

There was a throng of people in town for the close of the tennis tournament. There was already a big gathering in this city and Jamestown, and they came from the Pier, by the ferries and automobiles, on steam and power yachts, and on Captain Patterson's launch Oriole. From Wickford way there was a large quota. The 9 and 10:53 trains in also had numbers of tennis devotees and the cabs at the railroad depot when the last train arrived were taken in a minute. It was simply a question of how many they could carry. The electric cars also brought many and the automobiles were too numerous to count. Some of the Jamestown folks came across in their launches and had automobiles meet them at the dock, saving the wait they knew would be inevitable on the ferries.

All aimed toward the Casino, where the greatest crowd ever seen at a tennis tournament there was gathered. It was a cosmopolitan gathering; people from all ranks of life were there to see the finals and the men who had brought the Davis cup back from England.

DISTRICT COURT BUSINESS.

It is dull in the district court nowadays. This morning only one case was tried, the civil suit of Isaac Newman vs. Chester L. Prior, for a bill for dresses. It was decided in favor of the defendant.

Although Tuesday is primarily for the trial of civil cases a few matters were disposed of which were of a criminal nature. Chief Manchester was in from Tiverton with two men charged with assault and a man charged with drunkenness. One of the two for assault pleaded guilty and was fined $16.20; the other pleaded not guilty. The third individual admitted that the charge that he was intoxicated was correct and he was sent to jail.

As last Friday, the district court held its session in the rooms of the superior court, as repairs have not yet been completed to the district courtroom. In the course of a week or two Judge Franklin will take his vacation.

JAMESTOWN.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

C. E. Weeden has rented for Ferdinand Armbrust his cottage on the Carr plat to Susan W. Fitzgerald for the remainder of the season.

A. L. Peckham has sold the Ida Knowles cottage, so called, on Conanicus avenue, to Benjamin Easton of Newport.

Arrivals at the Dr. Bates sanatorium, "Maplewood," last week, include Wilbur F. Smith, W. Hunter Brown, M. H. Hawkins, James S. Davis, Samuel T. Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Slade and Miss Abby Adams of Providence; Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Littlefield, Pawtucket; G. R. Gilbert and Robert Gray, Slocum, R. I.; H. R. Hopkins, Anthony, R. I.; Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Cole, New York, and Mr. John Atwood, Portland, Oregon.

DEMONSTRATION PLANNED.

Soldiers in the Calumet District Ordered on Duty.

CALUMET, Mich., August 26.—Every soldier in the Calumet district was ordered on duty early today, following an announcement from the office of the sheriff that a general demonstration would be started by the striking miners in a non-union effort to stop all work in the copper mines. Information had been received by the sheriff that two parades would start from both sides of the town. It was said that the strikers would be accompanied by their women and children. Strikers declared that the presence of their families was evidence of their peaceable intentions. All deputies have been ordered to hold themselves in readiness, however, and the sheriff announced that drastic steps will be taken to suppress disorder.

WILSON CONSENTS TO POSTPONE HIS ADDRESS.

on the Mexican situation today. The government organ adds:

"It is easy to smile at the position in which President Woodrow Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan find themselves, but it is no worse than the position in which the European powers have been landed by the refusal of Turkey to respect the treaty of London."

LIND OFF FOR VERA CRUZ.

Wilson's Personal Representative Will Continue Journey to Capital.

MEXICO CITY, August 26.—John Lind, the personal representative of President Wilson, left here this morning for Vera Cruz. He is accompanied by Luis D'Antin, an attache of the American embassy. The understanding is that from Vera Cruz Mr. Lind will continue his journey to Washington.

REGARDING MEXICAN SITUATION.

America's "Do Nothing Policy" Criticised by Von Richthofen.

BERLIN, August 26.—What he calls America's "Do nothing policy" is criticised today by Baron Hartmund Von Richthofen, formerly secretary of the German embassy at Washington, and recently charge d'affaires of the German legation at Mexico City and now a member of the Reichstag, in an article in the Zeitung Am Mittag. He demands that speedy steps be taken to establish permanent government in Mexico, which, he says, is possible by means of a strict closing of the frontier, for revolution, he declares, would be impossible without the importation of arms by filibusters and President Huerta would find the necessary funds in Europe to maintain his army if the United States would act even in this negative way.

If America is unwilling on moral and other grounds to give this support to prevent President Huerta, continues Von Richthofen, the government should announce it openly, but should offer to his successor guarantees for the absolute closing of the frontier to both men and arms.

BRYAN FORGETS TO GO HOME.

Secretary Greatly Absorbed in the Mexican Situation.

WASHINGTON, August 26. The Mexican situation so absorbed the attention of Secretary Bryan that he forgot to go home last night and, while he waited for a message from John Lind, he curled up on a couch, where he slept until time to go home for breakfast this morning.

FINANCIAL.

NEW YORK, August 26, Wall Street—The market opened with Amalgamated Copper 73¾, American Car Foundry 46, American Locomotive 35½, American Smelting and Refining 67¼, Anaconda 36½, Brooklyn Rapid Transit 89⅝, Canadian Pacific 216¾, Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul 106⅝, Erie 28⅝, New York Central 98, Northern Pacific 111⅝, Reading 161⅝, Rock Island preferred 27½, Southern Pacific 90½, Union Pacific 153⅝, United States Steel 63⅝.

10:15—A rapid decline in New Haven, which met with little support until it had fallen more than 4 points, was the striking characteristic of the early trading today. The preliminary statement of earnings for 1912, showing a deficit of $1,600,000, led to free selling, and the stock, which closed yesterday at 96⅝, opened today at 95¾, a new low record. The price was borne down quickly to 92¼. At that point it found a better market and re-bounded to 93½. The general market opened irregular, with a downward tendency. Steel was sold in large amounts and declined ⅜ point. Canadian Pacific also lost a point and Union Pacific receded fractionally, while small gains were made by Reading and Southern Pacific. The acute weakness of New Haven affected the whole list. Prices were forced down generally, with a number of one point losses. When New Haven re-bounded trading grew quieter, with some partial recoveries.

Noon.—The uncertain aspect of the Mexican situation and the extensive liquidation of New Haven combined to unsettle the early market. Pressure for both accounts was general, with especial heaviness, aside from New Haven, in Steel, Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific, Smelting and Lehigh Valley, the latter being sold on the unfavorable July earnings. With the check to the decline which came with more encouraging news from Mexico, short covering became urgent and prices went up with celerity. When this demand was satisfied prices rose fractionally. Shortly before noon an upturn in the coalers strengthened the whole list. The market lacked the stimulus afforded by yesterday's bidding up of various industrials, and the upward movement failed to attain striking proportions. Bonds were steady. Money on call, steady, at 2½ per cent. Prime mercantile paper 5¾ to 6½ per cent. Exchanges, $280,076,355; balances $18,837,987.

A PLAY IN PICTURES.

"Quo Vadis" Presented at Freebody Park in Remarkable Series of Views.

Freebody Park had its largest audience of the season Monday evening, when the Kleine-Cines photo drama, "Quo Vadis," was presented in motion pictures. It is quite an unusual affair, the presentation of a play in pictures for an entire evening, occupying more than two hours, but the pictures were so good, the action so natural, the staging so elaborate, and the various parts of the story followed in such rapid succession, that the interest was maintained from beginning to end. The boxes were well filled, and in the main enclosure there were fully 500 people seated and all watched the development of the plot as it was shown on the screen with close attention.

The drama was presented in three acts, including eight parts. The story is that of the novel, "Quo Vadis," and is a tale of Rome in the days of Nero, showing how he ruled as an absolute despot, ruthlessly cruel and knowing neither honor nor morality. The play is staged with elaborate detail, illustrating the splendors of the time of Nero.

In the first act there is a remarkable series of pictures showing the imperial banquet with its brutal revelries. In the second is seen the burning of the city, a very realistic enactment, with the raging flames and the hurrying of the people to escape with their lives and such of their household goods as they could gather in their terror. The feature of the third act was the arena, with the gladiatorial sports, the killing of the Christian martyrs by wild beasts and the rescue by Ursus and Vicitus of the girl Lygia, who is brought into the ring lashed to the back of a bull, with Nero smilingly at his sports and the people applauding. Then comes the revolt of the people and Nero's death at his own hands.

The play was enacted by a company of notable Italian actors and actresses, and throughout was notable for its realism and the attention shown to details. It is a play worth seeing, and the engagement for the week promises to be the most successful the Park has had this year.

TO SUPPLY AMUSEMENTS.

Men of the Submarine Flotilla Organize Entertainment Association.

The men of the submarine flotilla have organized as the Entertainment and Athletic Association of the Second Group of the Submarine Flotilla of the Atlantic Fleet. The purpose is to have all the members working in concert to supply amusements which they may enjoy together with feeling of close comradeship. The following are the officers of the Association:

President—Thomas L. Byrne.
Vice President—J. L. Johnson.
Financial Secretary—A. S. Clevell.
Recording Secretary—A. H. Mitchell.
Treasurer—Emlen Robertson.
Athletic Committee—E. A. Maddox, P. F. Morgan, T. L. Byrne.
Entertainment Committee—E. F. Bower, J. V. Johnson, G. S. Young, C. A. Armes.
Officers in charge of minstrels—Musical Director, E. F. Bower; stage manager, Ackerman; general manager, Rodgers; stage electrician, D. Lowe; stage carpenter, Hughes.

Committees have also been appointed to have charge of other departments of the work. The above committee will also take up the matter of forming and organizing football and other athletic teams. Plans are already under way for a minstrel show to be held in September, the arrangements being in the hands of a special committee.

The officers of the flotilla are strongly in favor of the Association and are doing all they can to give the men a good time. The members unanimously elected all the officers of the flotilla to office, and Emlen Robertson, who is in charge of torpedo Tonopah, was elected to the position of musical director of the flotilla and leader of the band.

MR. CUSHING'S PAINTINGS.

Pictures of Scenes Abroad, Notably in Scotland and in the Eternal City.

During the past week there has been a large attendance at the Art Association rooms, where there are exhibitions of pictures by two artists, Mr. Charles Bittel and Mr. Howard Gardiner Cushing. The larger of the lower galleries contains a collection of paintings in oil by Mr. Cushing, who has spent most of the summer in Newport since he was a boy. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Cushing.

The 55 pictures which are exhibited by Mr. Cushing show him to many of the people who admire his work in quite a new light. He is well known for his excellent portraits, which have won him a reputation both in Europe and in his own country. The present exhibition consists entirely of subjects painted in Switzerland, Scotland and in Italy. The first impression gained in looking at these pictures is a richness of color that is beautiful and interesting. Several of the Scotch landscapes are painted in the wonderful heather season, when over the hills and valleys the beautiful veil of purple heather is drawn like a living drapery. The heather effects are among those which haunt the artist, and evidently this painter has felt the fascination of trying to give an impression of what is in nature one of the most beautiful things on earth. To those who have seen and enjoyed Scotland in this season, these pictures of Mr. Cushing appeal deeply. They carry one back to the amethyst moors and purple hills and give those who have known and loved Scotland just a touch of homesickness for "the bonnie, bonnie shores of Loch Lomond"!

Another note struck often in this show is the decorative treatment of flowers and still life. One of the most important of these decorative compositions is No. 52, Parrot and Fuchsias, which has been much admired. The parrot is a china parrot; the composition of the picture is full of charm. Next in importance of the still life pictures is a flower piece of pink peonies in a large vase. Both these canvases are extraordinarily decorative.

In Rome Mr. Cushing has felt, like so many of the artistic visitors to the Eternal City, the wonderful charm of the Roman fountains. It has been said that, of all the attractions Rome offers, the living waters that dance and sparkle in its squares and gardens are the superlative charm. Sitting in the quiet gallery of the Art Association looking at these Roman pictures of Mr. Cushing is a rare pleasure in these hurried mid-summer days. The beholder, if he be in the right mood and meets the artist half way, is transported back to Italy, to the Villa Borghese gardens, to the beautiful Villa d'Este, to the Palatine, to the Villa Medici. He may hear the drip, drip of the water from the time-worn basin; he can if he be fanciful almost hear the soft bells of St. Peter's ring out the Ave Maria. The picture of the statue with the pink flowers in blossom has great charm and is extremely characteristic of Rome, where art and nature are so wedded together that the lover of beauty hardly knows where nature ends and art begins.

A large number of these pictures have already found customers. It has been announced by the governing board of the Art Association that the classes which proved so successful during the spring months will be continued during the coming winter. A sketching class under Mr. Kendall's instruction has been doing some admirable work during the summer in out-of-door sketching.

SERPENTINE DANCING.

Spectacular Display by the Oberita Sisters at the Colonial Theatre.

The Oberita sisters at the Colonial Theatre are a strong drawing card, with their spectacular display of serpentine dancing and fighting. The trio handle yards upon yards of silk-like gauze effectively and the lantern work is equally efficient. One of the number does considerable of her work while poised upon a big white sphere, which she rolls about to different locations. The stage is set with special scenery, which does much to add to the exhibition, but at the close much of this is moved off the stage as the trio require the full space for their work then.

Marrae Bennett has a way about her in singing his songs and telling his stories which make him a winner, while the "Sweet Sixteen girls" have quite a repertoire of songs, which they sing well, at the same time making a pleasing stage appearance.

The Lubin picture "The Burning River", is a highly interesting story, with its fire and other scenes of every-day life, which are a revelation to the great majority of people, who know little about the inside of newspaper offices and politics.

TENNIS REPORTERS ORGANIZE.

The regular reporters of lawn tennis organized Monday at the Casino for the purpose of establishing official and systematic sources for news of the sport, to endeavor to standardize methods of scoring and to obtain adequate arrangements for accommodating the press representatives at the more important tournaments. The organization is to include only regular reporters on tennis matters, and there is but one affiliate in Newport. Some of the members have been covering tennis in Newport for many years. The officials of the National Lawn Tennis Association have signified their approval of the plans of the newspaper men.

REPAIRS QUICKLY MADE.

Monday afternoon while Mr. Herman Oelrichs's power boat Cassandra was up the bay on a spin, she broke one of her shafts as she came home on the other. As Mr. Oelrichs had arranged to carry a party of young men to New York this morning, there was some hustling to have repairs made. The boat was hauled out at the ship yard and the work was completed so that Mr. Oelrichs and his party were able to take the boat for New York at 9 o'clock. They are due to meet friends at 1 this afternoon, but if the Cassandra makes 20 miles for several hours they will have time to spare.

PERROQUETS TAKE THORN CUP.

Win Handily from Philadelphia Country Club Overcoming Allowance.

Final Match of the Local Polo Season Decided by Superior All-Round Work.

With the play Monday for the Thorn Memorial gold cup, the polo season for Newport closed for the year 1913. It had been hoped to have another match for this cup, but the players who have been in the saddle almost since the season began have become tired and desire a rest. So their ponies have been shipped home and there were not left enough good men with ponies to make up the team which the Queenstown League is intended entering for the Tango cup. The ownership for this year therefore depends on the match played Monday and the Morgan Perroquets, who last year under the name of Westchester Perroquets struck out for this trophy, won out quite handily, 10 to 7, overcoming the allowance of five goals made to the Philadelphia Country Club.

The Philadelphia team which put up such a lively fight for the Westchester cups, was changed to some more allowance, incidentally of course the scoring strength was weakened. The team missed the long hard drives of Mr. Morgan and it was in that respect that it was weak. The ponies were fast and were well ridden and the members could hit under about all conditions, but they lacked the strength of stroke and the ability for continued driving in a long line. Also, they were inclined to drive to the side lines instead of the centre of the field, and no goals can be scored by hitting the sideboards, the goal posts are midway between the side boards. It was this line of strong, long drives and ability to control and direct them in the centre which gave the Perroquets the advantage.

The Country Club scored the first two goals. Thereafter, though they had almost as many shots as the Perroquets, they did not score again. Generally their shots were wide of the goal, while the Perroquets had many narrow escapes from scoring and once hit the goal posts, with the sound as the ball rolled outside. It is curious that the ball when it hits the goal posts almost always rolls outside and not between the posts for a score. Also, it is curious that in a majority of the goals made at the ground this season it have been through the north goal.

The Country Club started like a sure winner, scoring the two goals made in the first period and running the score board fully up to 7 to 0, the allowance having been given before play began. In the second period Mr. Gill made the ball on the run in near the goal and quickly made the first of the long string for the Reds. The second came only after a struggle. Thereafter, as the summary shows, the Reds kept hitting away and scoring every now and then, until at the end of the fifth period they had evened the score. Thereafter they had things more to their liking and did not stop so long. That the play was kept up to the end was shown by the Reds scoring the eleventh goal just after the bell sounded for the end of the game. It did not count, as the game ends the instant the time bell sounds.

The attendance was large and included a few on foot, who must have traveled some distance to see the game. The automobile was in the great majority, but there were some handsome carriages and a few equestrians to look at the sport. The riding was generally first-class, the hitting was not equal to that of the stars of the game, but the back work of Mr. Milis for the Whites was strong and that of Mr. Gill for the Reds even stronger. The Reds had the advantage that Mr. O'Neill could come up with a season's record, and score, that only, however, the Reds' play was to foul the ball to No. 1, Mr. Grosvenor, for the final polo.

The field was fine. A cool some thought chill—southwester blew across the field. The wind should helped those seated on the clubhouse lawn and piazza and those on the upper terrace to see everything, including the best view of the play.

The handsome gold cup, the prize for the play, was on exhibition on the lawn. It bore the name of Bryn Mawr, winner last year. There were also four handsome medals, the individual prizes for the winning four. These were similar to those given last year, with two crossed mallets, the words "Westchester Polo Club" and "Thorn Memorial Cup" Newport, R. I." At the close of the play these were handed to the winners by Mrs. G. B. DeForest.

The sides and handicaps:

Myopia Perroquets, color Red—William Grosvenor 6, Norman Prince 2, F. H. Prince, Jr., 4, F. A. Gill 6; total 12.

Philadelphia Country Club, color White—P. S. P. Randolph 1, W. Randolph 0, Morgan Belmont 3, Paul D. Mills 3; total 7.

Referee—Mr. William A. Hazard.

The scoring was done as follows:

| Period & Goal Side | Made by | Time |
|---|---|---|
| 1-1 Philadelphia | W. Randolph | 1:20 |
| 2 Philadelphia | P. S. P. Randolph | 3:57 |
| 2-3 Perroquets | Mr. Gill | 0:37 |
| 3 Perroquets | Mr. Gill | 6:20 |
| 3-5 Perroquets | Mr. Grosvenor | 1:38 |
| 4-6 Perroquets | Mr. Gill | 0:23 |
| 5-7 Perroquets | F. H. Prince, Jr., | 1:12 |
| 8 Perroquets | Mr. Grosvenor | 3:34 |
| 9 Perroquets | Mr. Gill | 2:23 |
| 9-10 Perroquets | Mr. Grosvenor | 6:21 |
| 7-11 Perroquets | Mr. Grosvenor | 5:50 |
| 8-12 Perroquets | Mr. Gill | 3:55 |

Perroquets scored 10 goals. Philadelphia scored 2 goals, received 5 by handicap; total score 7 goals.

NEW PARK COMMISSIONER.

Colonel J. H. Willard Appointed to Succeed Henry F. Eldridge.

Monday afternoon Mayor MacLeod announced that he had appointed Colonel J. H. Willard a member of the Park Commission, to serve four years. Colonel Willard succeeds Mr. Henry F. Eldridge, whose term expired June 30 last. The Park Commission has held no meeting for organization and election of officers, since, without the Mayor being aware, the second meeting takes place this afternoon, so that Colonel Willard is appointed just in time.

Colonel Joseph H. Willard is a son of the late Elisha W. Willard, who for many years was a resident of Newport, living on Miantonomi avenue. He was born in Illinois, was appointed to the Military Academy at West Point from that state in July, 1881, and upon graduation was appointed second lieutenant and assigned to the engineer corps. He reached the grade of colonel May 5, 1906, and was placed on the retired list June 9, 1907, having reached the age of 64 years. He purchased a cottage on Catherine street and has since made his residence in Newport.

Mr. Eldridge has been a member of the Park Commission since 1901, when he was appointed by Mayor Taylor to fill the unexpired term of Colonel H. P. Pelham. He was re-appointed in 1903 and again in 1908.

SOCIAL ENTERTAINMENTS.

Dinner and Dance For Miss Elsie Stevens—Luncheon at Gooseberry Island.

Mrs. Richard Stevens gave a dinner and dance at the Pinard cottages Monday evening for her daughter, Miss Elsie Stevens, entertaining 40 guests at the former and an additional number for the dancing which followed. The dinner was served on two tables in a tent on the lawn. The tent was transformed into a floral bower with a generous use of flowers and vines, the table decorations being of white roses, lilies of the valley and southern smilax. The house was decorated in white and green.

At the larger table, over which Mrs. Stevens presided, the guests were the Spanish minister and Senora Riano, Mrs. John Astor, Mrs. French Vanderbilt, Mrs. Richard Gambrill, Mrs. Whitney Warren, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence W. Dolan, Mr. and Mrs. F. Lothrop Amos, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard M. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. R. Livingston Beeckman, Miss Mabel Gerry, Miss Edith Wetmore, Miss Marian Fenno, Baron Horst von Lersner, Baron Kurt von Lersner and Messrs. Boris Vonine, Hanel von Hamshausen, Eliot Gregory, Charles E. Sands, Charles A. Munn, James W. Barney, Henry F. Eldridge, Lawrence Haughton and Charles Winslow.

At the smaller table, at which Miss Stevens sat, were the debutantes and younger people, including Miss Mimi Scott, Miss Rose B. Dolan, Miss Gabrielle Warren, Miss Muriel Winthrop, Miss Mildred Rives and Messrs. George Henry Warren, Jr., Curtis Moffatt, Hermann Oelrichs, Maurice Roche, Francis Roche, Richard Gambrill and George Brooke.

Mr. Oliver Gould Jennings gave a luncheon at Gooseberry Island Monday and Mrs. C. Franklin Mohr a luncheon at "Montpelier." Mrs. George Lathrop Bradley entertained at "Brent Lodge." Mrs. W. Storrs Wells and Mrs. Oliver Gould Jennings were among the dinner entertainers at the summer residences and Mr. Frederick T. Frelinghuysen gave a dinner at Berger's. Miss Dorothy Willard gave a picnic at Bailey's beach in the afternoon, having 20 guests. There were water sports, including swimming contests and canoe tilting, and a supper served under a tent.

COMEDY AGAIN.

Scenic Arrangements for "The Blue Mouse" Well Worked Out and Cast Good.

The Malley-Denison Company returns to comedy this week, presenting at the Opera House Clyde Fitch's three-act play "The Blue Mouse." There was a large audience for the opening performance Monday evening, which enjoyed the amusing situations which Mr. Fitch has cleverly woven into the play and the excellent acting of the company. The scenic arrangements were finely worked out by Mr. Denison and the stage management, as usual, in the hands of Mr. Bennett, was all that could be desired.

Blanche Shirley, although not in good health, gave an enjoyable presentation of Paulette Devine, the Blue Mouse. Mr. Crane was capital in the leading role of Augustus Rollett and Mr. Barrett good in the character of Mr. Llewellyn, particularly in the comedy parts. Lynn Osbourn and Milton C. Noble, Jr., were well cast and Messrs. West and Bennett each enacted two minor roles. Miss Stone had a good part as Mrs. Rollette. Miss Delaro was excellent as Mrs. Llewellyn and Miss Anna LaShelle had two minor characters.

The play is well written, the development of the plot being maintained with increasing interest, while the comedy, not too boisterous, but good and clean, is well worked out. The production was considered one of the best the company has given.
